Competitive Landscape + Financial Benchmarks

An updated investor brief covering Spectra's two direct Color Intelligence competitors and four broader salon-management platforms. Financial figures are dated and labelled as official, filing-derived, third-party estimates, or not publicly disclosed.

COMPANIES COVERED	LARGEST VALUATION	FRESHEST REVENUE	LARGEST FUNDING TOTAL
6	$1.9B	$140M+	$331M
2 direct specialists + 4 broader platforms	Mindbody acquisition value, Dec 2018	Fresha revenue run-rate, May 2026	Zenoti, last disclosed June 2021

Read the metrics correctly

Revenue is company income. GMV and payments/bookings volume are customer transaction values processed on a platform and are not company revenue. "Incremental customer revenue" is value attributed to customer outcomes, not Zenoti sales. Private-company figures are only shown when sourced and dated.

Direct competition at the color bar

Vish and SalonScale already measure real material use and formulas. Spectra's differentiation cannot rely on data access alone; it must be demonstrated through workflow quality, accuracy, automation, and the decisions generated from that data.

Vish

$40+

Color management, billing, inventory and supplier workflow

VALUATION	FUNDING	REVENUE
Not public Checked Oct 2026	$696K tracked PitchBook; undisclosed later deals	~$5.5M est. Third party · Oct 2024

- Bluetooth scales, saved formulas, multi-bowl workflow, ratios and repeat-service history.
- Leftovers are reweighed to refine the quantity suggested on the next visit.
- Phorest Sync+ can add material charges to the client ticket; priced at +$50–$100/month.
- US SalonCentric workflow moves products into a distributor cart; checkout remains at SalonCentric.
- Published plans: Solo $40; up to 2 users $100; 2–5 chairs $215; 6–10 $290; 11+ $365. Scale: $195.

SalonScale

Backbar cost, Parts + Labor pricing, inventory and ordering

VALUATION	FUNDING	REVENUE
Not public Checked Oct 2026	>$1M reported Seed · 9 Aug 2019; currency unspecified	Not public No reliable disclosure found

- Real-time material cost while weighing, saved formulas, remix calculations, developer ratios and timers.
- Consumption-linked inventory, low-stock alerts, recommended orders and purchase-order forms.
- Square and Phorest integrations connect appointments and usage. A note sync is not automatically a ticket charge.
- Parts + Labor remains the core commercial positioning; September messaging is not evidence of a newly launched feature.
- Published plans: Solo $49; 2–3 users $99; 4–7 $149; unlimited $199. Scale: $60 + shipping.

Six-Month Cost Example

SCENARIO	SUBSCRIPTION	SCALE	PUBLISHED SIX-MONTH TOTAL	EXCLUDED / CAVEAT
Vish · 2–5 chairs	$215 × 6	$195	$1,485 + setup	Tablet, tax, setup/training and optional Sync+ excluded
SalonScale · 2–3 users	$99 × 6	$60	$654 DIY	Shipping/tax excluded; guided setup is optional $199

Investor implication

These are not feature-less incumbents. Both already create formula and material-consumption datasets. Spectra must prove a faster stylist workflow, higher-quality structured data, stronger automation from treatment to inventory, and better decision support—not merely the existence of a scale or formula history.

Financial data is private-company disclosure or clearly labelled estimate

Capital and scale behind the platform layer

These companies compete with Spectra's expansion into SalonOS and Salon AI. Their financial metrics are not directly comparable: Fresha reports revenue and GMV, Zenoti reports customer transaction volume, Phorest is private, and Mindbody now sits inside Playlist.

Fresha

Official

Marketplace + management + payments

Phorest

Mindbody

SEC + company

Fitness, wellness and beauty platform within Playlist

OUTCOME	PARENT GROUP	REVENUE
$1.9B	$7.5B EV	$179.2M
Vista sale · Dec 2018	Playlist–EGYM · Mar 2026	Nine months ended Sep 2018

- The 2026 $7.5B value belongs to the combined Playlist–EGYM enterprise, not Mindbody alone.
- The transaction included $785M of new equity investment at group level.
- Mindbody's last clean standalone revenue disclosure predates the 2019 take-private.

Strategic read-through

Capital validates the category, but scale does not prove depth in color production. Fresha and Zenoti have the strongest current financial signals; Mindbody demonstrates a large historical outcome; Phorest demonstrates durable salon-specific expansion. Spectra's opportunity is to turn measured treatment economics into a wedge for the broader platform.
